This is how I am loading my library: require_once('vendor/bin/phpexcel/PHPExcel.php'); I am loading the phpxcel version at the latest, but I have seen this line on the library's github: composer require bahir/php-excel v0.1.4:dev-develop --dev It is possible to change the version I am loading at runtime? I don't want to manually mess with the package.xml and try to set the version of phpxcel to something else. I want to use the latest version possible using the latest composer. A: I do not know if this can really be done from runtime, but it looks like for this you can just download the composer file manually and use this one.
